

Ryan Donnelly, MS, MSc

Ryan is Senior Vice President of Strategy and Innovation at Premise Health, the leading direct healthcare company and one of the largest digital healthcare providers in the country. Ryan is responsible for enterprise strategy, innovation, growth analytics, claims data analytics, and data science, and leads the Care Management and Care Navigation business units. Before joining Premise, Ryan was a Principal at Kingfish Group, a private equity investment and strategy consulting firm, where he led all healthcare investing, advisory, and industry research initiatives. Prior to Kingfish Group, Ryan worked for the Botswana International Financial Services Center and before that he was a healthcare investment banker with Citi in New York City. Ryan holds a master's degree from the University of Oxford (expected 2024) and Carnegie Mellon University, and a bachelor's degree from Providence College. He was also a Coro Fellow and Nashville Health Care Council Fellow.