

Thomas LaViest, PhD

Thomas LaVeist is dean of the Tulane University, School of Public Health & Tropical Medicine. His career has been dedicated to understanding the causes of inequity in health and its potential solutions. He has an extensive record of publication in scientific journals as well as numerous mass media outlets and is director and executive producer of "The Skin You're In," a documentary series about racial inequalities in health. He is also author of six books including "Minority Population and Health: An introduction to health disparities in the United States" (the first textbook on health disparities). An award-winning research scientist, Dr. LaVeist has received the "Innovation Award" from National Institutes of Health, the "Knowledge Award" from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and was elected to the National Academy of Medicine in 2013.